

Just because I have a relationship with a bank, credit card company, or any other business, does not give them the right to call me trying to push their latest and greatest interest rate/product. If I wanted their products I would initiate the inquiry myself. Please do not allow this proposal to pass